- a) Well done Jimmy, great choice to learn something new.
- b) Perhaps your parents may have been able to support you, had you told them about the lessons.

Page 1

- a) That's a shame Jimmy you might have made some new friends at the lessons.
- b) Good idea Jimmy they might be able to advise you.

- a) Good decision Jimmy onwards and upwards!
- b) You got this Jimmy! Tell your parents they will be your cheer-leaders.

- a) Good idea Jimmy that's what teachers are for.
- b) It's always a good idea to share your concerns and your parents will always support you.

- a) That's the right decision Jimmy, talk it through with your parents to get their support.
- b) It's a shame that you didn't persevere with this, your confidence would have improved over time.

- a) That's right Jimmy, don't worry about others or comparing yourself too much, you are good enough.
- b) Your parents will always support your efforts in whatever you do and be glad that you tried.

- a) It's always good to get your efforts praised; it makes you want to keep improving and work hard all the time.
- b) Sometimes it's good to keep your focus; you could have time for both music lessons and football then.

- a) It's good you are feeling better about yourself and can see the improvement in your skills.
- b) It'd be a shame if you quit music lessons altogether; you could choose the instrument you like the most among the three that are offered at school and at some point later move on to another instrument.

- a) Excellent idea, get some extra practice in, but remember it should still be fun.
- b) Giving up something is the easy option, don't give yourself such a hard time and try to enjoy learning something new.

Page 9

We all get discouraged sometimes and take hasty decisions. Now you can either wait until next year, or take up afternoon music lessons, choosing the instrument you like the most.

Page 10

Well done, Jimmy! You didn't get discouraged by the difficulties you encountered and persevered in your endeavour.
